THE EIGHTH CAVALRY

Sails For Cuba From Savannah For Garrison Duty.

ON THE VERGE OF MUTINY

Spanish Soldiers Now Refuse to Return to Spain Unless They Receive Their Pay For Services In Cuba. Officers Back Their Men In the Demand.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Adjutant General Corbin received a dispatch last evening announcing that the Eighth cavalry had sailed yesterday from Savannah for Puerto Principe, Cuba.

In this connection an interesting bit of information has reached the war department. Arrangements have been made by the Spanish authorities to send back to Spain the Spanish troops, numbering 9,000 men, upon the arrival of the American garrison. It was expected that they would sail tomorrow or Wednesday, but an unexpected obstacle has arisen among the men themselves. They are on the verge of mutiny, openly declaring they will not return to Spain until they have received their pay, now far in arrears, for service in Cuba.

The mutiny extends not alone to the enlisted men, but to their officers, and is directed against the executive officials of the Madrid government on the island. Some of the men have not been paid for nearly a year, and to all of them several months of pay is due.

The situation has created no particular concern in the minds of the American authorities as it is not likely seriously to affect the control of that portion of the island by the American forces, but it is realized that those 9,000 soldiers, if they should persist in their refusal to return to Spain, might become dependents whom it would be difficult to care for, and, ultimately, perhaps a menace to good government on the island.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

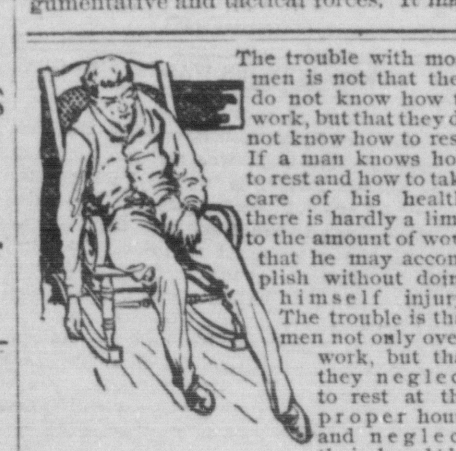

Thought Spaniards Will Not Consent to a Treaty Americans Can Sign.

Paris, Nov. 14.—Among onlookers here the impression exists—though it is not the result of any official statement—that the Spanish peace commissioners will not consent to a treaty which the American commissioners could sign.

It seems almost possible also, that, in the pitiable pressure to which the Spanish commissioners are subjected between their large creditors, who are on the spot watching them, and the stern attitude of the United States, the Spaniards may abandon their struggles and leave the two forces to confront each other.

The Spaniards, it has been arranged, will inform the Americans today whether they need the day to prepare their next memorandum. If they want more time the meeting will take place tomorrow. Under the rules of procedure adopted by the conference, it is understood that the deliberations may not be unexpectedly concluded by either side.

The statement was printed here last evening that the last memorandum from the Americans is regarded by the Spaniards as a virtual ultimatum. But, as a matter of fact, the Spaniards have not presented an ultimatum, save as their treatment of the subjects in hand may be unwise. It is only since Wednesday last that the Spaniards have begun to feel that the Americans purpose taking over the Philippines, and that, too, without any assumption of Spanish indebtedness. As they are now convinced of this, it may be that Spain's next presentation in conference will be the supreme rally of her diplomatic, argumentative and tactical forces. It may

The trouble with most men is not that they do not know how to work, but that they do not know how to rest. If a man knows how to rest and how to take care of his health, there is hardly a limit to the amount of work he may accomplish without doing himself injury. The trouble is that men not only overwork, but that they neglect to rest at the proper hours and neglect their health. A man passes a restless, sleepless night, gets up dull and headache in the morning, goes to the breakfast table without an appetite, bolts what little he does eat and rushes away to business. He is drowsy and nervous by turns all day and forces himself to work against his will. He takes himself to work again and not a minute to rest afterward. He goes home at night utterly fatigued and with no appetite for supper. The idea of taking medicine or even taking a little rest never enters his head. Some night his wife finds him in the rocking chair before the fire-place—dead. The doctor will call it nervous prostration or heart trouble or something of that kind. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine for hard working men. It restores a keen edge to the appetite. It facilitates the flow of the digestive juices and makes the digestion and assimilation perfect. It invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve-tonic. Medicine dealers sell it.

H. Gaddis, Esq., of No. 313 South 1 Street, Tacoma, Washington, writes: "I was taken ill in February last. My lungs hurt me and I got so poor that I was just skin and bone. I thought I was going to die. I tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it saved my life."

Pierce's For sick headache, biliousness and constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pellets are the most rational cure known. They are mild but thorough and effective. They regulate and invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. Never gripe. No other pills like them.

even mark the conclusion of all she has to say, but if the rules of procedure are followed, the Americans would still have another presentation to submit.

Ever since Oct. 1 it has been within the range of possibility that at any meeting an open rupture might occur, and on one or two occasions it might have been easily a fact even before the taking up of the Philippine question. The boundaries of the field in which that question is being worked out are becoming more apparent and the angle of final settlement cannot be far off.

If a treaty is to result here, it may fairly be expected within three weeks, although it is not true—as reported from the United States yesterday—that the Americans have instructions embodying a time limit for the conclusion of the conference.

The Gaulois today announces that a syndicate representing $400,000,000 capital proposes to take over the commercial advantages of the Philippines for a term of 25 years, paying to the dominant power therein $125,000,000 for the privilege.

Under the alleged terms of this scheme the dominant power would administer the political and military government of the islands at its own expense, while the syndicate would collect all customs and other revenues for the term specified.

The scheme involves giving Spain $175,000,000 to satisfy any real or imaginary claims she may make as to the territory. The sponsor of the project is a Mr. Young, said to be a son of Brigham Young.

Friends of the United States here are asking if the announcement of the scheme is not intended to embarrass the Americans by an offer, real or apparent, of $400,000,000 for a limited time, for the use of what the Americans may desire to acquire in perpetuity for a sum relatively nil.

Judge Day is completely recovered.

INSTRUCTIONS TO RIOS

Which May Cause the Breaking Off of Peace Negotiations.

Madrid, Nov. 14.—El Imparcial says the government has forwarded instructions to Senor Montero Rios, president of the Spanish peace commission at Paris and that today's conference may be the last or the last but one, "unless the American commissioners moderate their claim." According to El Imparcial, a member of the cabinet, has virtually declared as much.

The Madrid papers declare that the expected visit of Emperor William is a matter of no political importance and that the German ambassador's visit to Berlin is in no way connected with it.

Cuban Assembly Commission.

Havana, Nov. 14.—The five members of the special commission appointed by the Cuban assembly at Santa Cruz del Sur last Thursday night to go to Washington to present to President McKinley the wishes of the assembly, arrived yesterday. The commission consists of General Calixto Garcia, Manuel Sanguily, Jose Miguel Gomez, Antonio Gonzales Llanusa and Jose Ramon Villalon.

Loss Cannot Be Great to Spain.

London, Nov. 14.—The Times in its editorial this morning on the Hispano-American situation repeats its conviction that "no power will attempt to hinder the transfer of the Philippines," adding that "their loss cannot be great to Spain, who has practically lost the entire archipelago before the United States interfered."

Devoid of Official Character.

Washington, Nov. 14.—It is understood that assurances have been given by the German government that the visit of Emperor William of Germany to Spain is entirely devoid of official character or significance.

TARIFF REVISION

Senator Hanna Thinks It Necessary. Favors Taxing Tea and Coffee.

Cleveland, Nov. 14.—In an interview last night Senator Hanna said the tariff would have to be revised to meet existing conditions. "The war revenue measure," he said, "must be revised, but we will keep many of the original features of the law, simply because it is now necessary. Under the old tariff law we are not getting very much revenue, because we are exporting instead of importing, and something must be done to meet these new conditions."

"We must have a new revenue measure. So far as I am concerned I favor putting a duty on tea and coffee. The revenues for the support of the government must be raised in some way, and the indirect is the best way, according to my idea. When the people do not realize that they are paying a tax there is no complaint. Still it will be necessary to retain some of the features of the war revenue measure. The tax is now on the people, and, in some instances, it is the proper method of taxation."

ALASKAN NEWS

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 14.—The steamer Wolcott, from Copper River, Alaska, brings news of the drowning of a young woman named Crossop and a man named Tankerson, in Controller bay, Oct. 5. They were rowing from the mouth of the Chilkat river to Kayak island and their boat capsized. The body of the woman was recovered. On it was found $114,000. She formerly lived in Minneapolis. With her sister she ran a dance hall in Controller Bay. The steamer Dora has also arrived from Cook's Inlet with about 20 passengers. Among them was Lieutenant Spurr, who, with a party of three, had been surveying the territory between the Kuskokwim and Sushitna rivers. Lieutenant Spurr discovered a new range of mountains several hundred miles in length, running from Lake Clark to the head waters of the Tanana. The average latitude of the range is from 7,000 to 8,000 feet.

PERKINS GOES FREE

Slayer of J. W. Newton Is Discharged by the Court.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 14.—Sergeant Perkins was acquitted of the charge of murder in the criminal court here Saturday without trial. He was under arrest for shooting his son-in-law, J. W. Newton. The prosecutor made a statement to the court in which he told how three years ago Newton had betrayed Miss Perkins, and had been forced by her father to marry her; how Newton had then been invited and accepted the invitation to live with the family; how Perkins discovered a few days ago that Newton had wronged his younger daughter and then fled. Polsgrove then told how Newton had returned at night to the home he had doubly wronged and hid himself, with two pistols, in an outbuilding, where he knew the old man would come to get feed for the horses. Perkins had been warned that Newton had taken his shotgun with him. As he approached the building Perkins discovered Newton with cocked pistols trying to shoot him. Perkins fired killing Newton instantly. The prosecutor moved the discharge of the prisoner and in doing so the court pronounced it justifiable homicide.

VIRDEN STRIKE

Miners Will Be Paid the State Scale of 40 Cents.

Carlinville, Ill., Nov. 14.—The Chicago-Virden Coal company, at Virden and Auburn, and the striking miners have made a settlement, and the shafts will soon be in operation.

The company agreed to pay the state scale of 40 cents per ton, but did not want to tear down the stockade. Finally the company accepted the offer of the miners that they would take it down and charge the company nothing for the labor.

Over 100 witnesses have been summoned by the grand jury, which is now investigating the recent Virden riot, in which so many men lost their lives. The grand jury is moving slowly, but its investigation is thorough.

Great pressure is being brought to bear by influential persons that nothing shall result from its investigations.

Pekin, Nov. 14.—Li Hung Chang has been ordered to proceed to Tsi-Nan, capital of the province of Shan Tung, to concert measures with the viceroy of Shan Tung to prevent future inundations of the Yellow river (Hoang-Ho.) This appointment is regarded as virtually shelving Prince Li.

Letter to That Effect Received by His Cousin In Kansas City.

Kansas City, Nov. 14.—Edward Zola, a resident of this city and a cousin of Emile Zola, the champion of Dreyfus, says that the report that the French author is coming to this country shortly is untrue. Edward Zola, who is an exile from his country, and who, for years past has been manager of the Kansas City club, has received a letter from his distinguished cousin in which Emile Zola states emphatically that he has no intention of coming to the United States on a lecture tour, as has been stated, or any other purpose, at least for a long time.

Congressman Simpson Says He Has Not Retired From Politics.

Medicine Lodge, Kan., Nov. 14.—Congressman Jerry Simpson, who has just been defeated for re-election by Chester L. Long, denies the statement that he has quit politics. Of his ambitions after leaving the national house, however, Mr. Simpson refused to talk.

GEN. MAXIMO GOMEZ

The Insurgent Will No Longer Have Any Americans Around Him.

CAPTAIN WARREN'S VIEWS

Believes It Will Be Difficult to Get a Majority of the Cuban Army to Disband—Should Not Be Given Rations and Theft of Cattle Should Be Severely Punished.

Santiago de Cuba, Nov. 14.—Captain Warren, an American who has been with General Maximo Gomez, says the latter will no longer have Americans about him, and is getting rid of them as fast as possible. He takes the same course in the case of Cubans suspected of favoring annexation to the United States. The result is that some of the best men who were long attached to his immediate staff are not with him.

It will be difficult, Captain Warren believes, to get the majority of the insurgents to disband. His idea is that when the American authorities get control of the other portions of the island, they should give out no rations and punish severely all thefts of cattle and produce. He thinks, too, that there may be some trouble with the insurgents because of their insisting on the right to courtmartial delinquents among themselves. There is very little serious sickness among the troops here. Everybody is improving with the cooler weather. It is estimated that no fewer than 18,000 people in this section are learning English, in addition to the school children.

Owing to the heavy weather the Manning, instead of the converted yacht Hist, will be placed at the disposal of General Wood, commander of the military division of Santiago for his trip from Guantanamo along the northern coast of the province. The Manning, with General Wood, will probably leave on Tuesday.

PHILIPPINES.

Activity of the Insurgents in Capturing Territory.

Manila, Nov. 14.—The following advices have been received from Iloilo, capital of Panay, one of the four principal islands of the Visayas group:

"The insurgents have occupied Linganis, Oton and Pavia, suburbs of Iloilo, and are daily expected to attack the town. The Spaniards have abandoned the Mole and destroyed the connecting bridges."

"Business is paralyzed, and the inhabitants are in a state of terror. The mercantile houses, of all nationalities, have signed a circular asking the commander of the United States cruiser Charleston to remain, as the Spanish authorities are incapable of affording them protection."

It is reported also that the insurgents have taken the whole of the Islands of Negros and Zebu of the Visayas group. As the cable connections are cut it is impossible to confirm this rumor.

On Nov. 6 General Rios, Spanish governor of the Visayas, is said to have declared a seven days' armistice in order to communicate with Madrid with a view of transferring control to the Americans.

FLAGLER'S REPORT

Moneys Expended For Ordnance During the Fiscal Year.

Washington, Nov. 14.—General D. W. Flagler, chief of the bureau of ordnance, has made his annual report to the secretary of war. It shows that there were expended during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1898, $7,348,795, and that there still remains of the appropriations made for the ordnance bureau, $19,793,359. This large sum is derived from the appropriations for the fiscal year which were made for war purposes amounting to $21,504,592.

Regarding the equipment of volunteers, the general thinks it would be as well to have the government equip them instead of their bringing their state arms into service, saying that it could be done as quickly owing to the condition of the arms of state troops.

Glasgow, Ky., Nov. 14.—Bob Brown, the murderer of the McClellands, was, by order of Judge Bohannon, taken by Deputy Sheriffs Rousseau and Barlow to Bowling Green Saturday afternoon for safe keeping, the authorities being apprehensive that an attempt would be made Saturday night to lynch him. Brown was brought before Judge Bohannon for a preliminary hearing, but waived trial and was remanded to jail without bail to await the action of the next grand jury.

Canada's New Governor General Arrives at Montreal.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—The new governor general of Canada, Lord Minto, his family and suite, have arrived here on board the steamship Scotsman. The vice regal party did not disembark. This was due to the illness of Lord Minto's oldest son, Viscount Melgund. Great reticence is displayed as to the young man's illness. The aide-de-camp says that it is only a slight attack of bronchitis, but some of the passengers on the Scotsman state that Viscount Melgund is suffering from an attack of typhoid fever.

Tenor Francesco Collenz Stabs Miss Neddy Morrison.

St. Louis, Nov. 14.—At the Century theater, in the course of the presentation of "I Pagliacci," Tenor Francesco Collenz carried out a finale in one of the acts by a bit of realism that was not on the programme. With uninvited ardor Mr. Collenz wounded Miss Neddy Morrison, the prima donna, in the arm with a dagger. Blood spurted forth from a wound in the left forearm, the actress fainted and the curtain was rung down. Manager Levering called for a physician from the audience. Dr. Thompson responded and speedily revived Miss Morrison, who was forced to retire to her hotel. The wound is not serious.

BARK LIMA ASHORE

MOTHER'S ALLEGED CRIME.

Gives Her Son Poison In Order to Secure Life Insurance.

Princeton, Ind., Nov. 14.—Mrs. Rebecca A. Rosenberger was arrested Saturday afternoon on the charge of poisoning her son, Alva Rosenberger. She filed $1,000 bond and was released. Mrs. Rosenberger is housekeeper for Dr. O. L. Hudson, while her son works in a restaurant and sleeps at the home of Richard Riggs. The boy did not get up at his usual time one morning last week and he was called but did not answer. The room was broken into and he was found unconscious and almost dead. It was two days before the patient was out of danger. A bottle was found in the room with a few drops of medicine in it. The drug was found to contain hydrate of chloral. The boy, who is but 16 years old, told the prosecutor that he went to see his mother and she gave him the bottle of medicine and told him to take a tablespoonful before he went to bed. She claimed it would cure the pimples on his face. He did as she told him. Three weeks ago the mother took out a life insurance policy on the life of her son for $2,000, payable to herself. Three years ago the entire Rosenberger family was poisoned, with the exception of this woman.

The result of the election is now known to all, and the REPUBLICAN congratulates the members of its party for the loyalty and fidelity with which they supported the citizens' movement. The victory is in no sense partisan, but it is most gratifying to the Republicans generally, as well as to the independent democrats who so heroically broke away from the domineering influence of the old ring. The wisdom of the members of the republican county central committee who determined upon this movement is fully vindicated. We can not make individual mention of all who worked effectively to this great end, but the taxpayers of the county, as well as the republicans will commend the courage, earnestness, and ability of David H. Waters, our chairman, in the conduct of the campaign. Under his guidance, coupled with the leadership of the independent democrats, the people have been able to accomplish that which has been the height of their ambition these many years, the complete routing of the court house crowd. Other counties of the state when long oppressed have risen in their might and rebuked the ring that weighed them down, but Jackson county was slow to act, but when she did act, the work was thorough and complete. The results will soon be apparent in a great saving to the people and the introduction of better methods in the conduct of county business. The new officers are all clean and capable men and are pledged to a faithful observance of the law and we feel assured that they will prove worthy the confidence the people have reposed in them.

RETROSPECT.

When you were here, I often sat
Love silent with you half the day;
There was small need of speech in that
Sweet converse of the blended way.

Now you are gone, and hour by hour
I miss of things I long to see;
There's not a bird, a leaf, a flower,
But helps me miss you everywhere.

My lonely heart envisions the past
With other caught from heaven's gold;
I dream of bliss too sweet to last,
And then I wake, starved and cold.

For by that solitary path
That outward leads from mortal ken
You walked, and here am I and faith
And jostling crowds of careless men.

I've touched the inmost core of pain
In creeping days, each day a year,
Yet might I sit tongue tied again
If you were here, if you were here.

THE LAST MAN SHAVED.

An Explanation by the Barber That Did Not Quiet His Nerves.

There were five of us hunting and fishing in the Queensland bush when one rainy day a stranger appeared. He said he was a tramp barber, and as none of us had been shaved for a fortnight we gave him half a day's work. About four hours after he had left us a band of six men rode up, and the leader inquired if we had seen a tall, roughly dressed man pass that way. We told him of the barber, and he looked from man to man and exclaimed:

"Good gracious, but you are all freshly shaved!"

"Yes, we gave the barber a job."
"And he shaved each one of you?"
"He did, and did it well."

"Boys, do you hear that?" shouted the man as he turned to his companions. "What of it?" asked one of our party.

"Why, he went insane yesterday and cut a man's throat in his barber's chair over at Unadilla, and we're after him to put him in an asylum."

They rode away at a gallop and next morning returned to our camp with the man, who had been captured after a hard fight and was tied on his horse. He seemed to remember us when he was given a drink of water, and as he handed the cup back he quietly observed:

"I say, gentlemen, please excuse me. I meant to finish off the last man who got shaved, but I got to thinking of something else, and it slipped my mind."

The emotional litterateur had just written a piece of which he was very proud. The editor looked it over and then said:

"Do you candidly think such opinions ought to go into cold type?"

"I don't know much about the practical work of printing," was the reply, "but I don't believe it makes any difference. Even if the type is cold, I guess that article will take the chill off it."

POST-ELECTION REFLECTIONS.

We freely accord to all the right to differ from us upon political or other questions, and to act and vote as their interest seem to dictate, but circumstances make it proper to call attention to the conduct of a few of the people in the recent campaign. First the Republican County Central Committee determined to make no nominations for local offices under the party title and emblem, but to divide the offices with democrats and put up a ticket under a new device and name. This action in no way dissolved the Republican County Central Committee, as every intelligent man well knew. The committee continued in existence and charged with all its duties as before. But Wm. Empson and Hamlin Smith and a few others, sought to disrupt the party by organizing an alleged committee under the false and fraudulent title of "loyal" republicans, and went through the form of making nominations for certain offices. These nominations had no right to be placed under the eagle, but they were put there by the ringsters. This rump committee usurped the place of the republican member of the county board of election commissioners, and attempted to make nominations of members of various election boards of the county. This committee was entirely spurious and was never recognized by any republican authority in the state and yet strange to say the democratic ringsters attempted to legalize their acts. In so doing they made it certain that Major Lee would have been seated as a member of congress had the election been close and they have brought serious trouble upon some election inspectors who followed their instructions.

A large number of republicans who favored the nomination of a straight republican ticket were entirely sincere and most earnest in their efforts. But they can now see that the alleged leaders only desired to make "monkey" out of them and use them as a tool to help elect the ring ticket.

Hamlin Smith made a midnight ride twenty miles and back to interview John Fox and assure him of his loyalty, but the vote shows that in Smith's precinct where there were 57 republican votes for congressman Fox received not even one vote, while in all Brownstown township he received only 46 votes. In Driftwood township where Empson was supposed to be working for republicans only, at least 29 republicans voted against Fox and in favor of Aldridge the ring opponent. The returns also show that John Burrell, the ring leader of the old machine, received almost the solid vote of these so-called loyal leaders, while Whitcomb, a lifelong republican, honest, capable and conscientious, received only 63 votes in Brownstown township where he resided and was well known. We are not denying the right of Smith and Empson to vote for Aldridge and Burrell if they preferred to do so, but we deny their right to masquerade under the title of loyal republicans while so doing. We deny their right to use the name of the old republican party to help perpetuate in power a ring rule which true republicans have been fighting every campaign and now at last have ended forever in this county. The work has been grandly accomplished, not in a partisan way but in the only practical way and every republican will now say "amen," whether he was able to give the ticket his approval and vote or not. We have no personal quarrel with Smith, Empson or any other man now, but with this explanation on behalf of the official republican committee, we hope to work agreeably with every true republican of the county in the advancement of republican principles and the promotion of the party's welfare.

FISH TRADE TRICKS.

HOW THE PROFESSIONALS LOCATE A "BITING" GROUND.

The Secret of Successful Fishing Off the New Jersey Coast—Marking the Good Spots For Future Catches and Dodging Rivals.

"Got the range, Will?"
"Looks like it, Si."
"See the walnut tree on the hill?"
"Yes; stands about west-northwest."
"And the church steeple south-southwest?"

"To the dot. No mistake about that."
"How heads Ladomus' cottage?"
"About due west."
"We ought to be nearly over it now, Will. Stand by to let go when I sing out. Steady, now; steady! Let her rip. Now! Now! Bully boy! Right over the middle of it."

That is how the professional fisherman along the Jersey coast finds his favorite "biting" ground. The latter may be 20 or more fathoms deep, and a dozen or more miles offshore; but, with the aid of such landmarks as trees, steeples and beach cottages, lying in various directions along the strand, these crack surfmen seldom make a mistake in "picking up" the ground sought offshore. It's no easy job this finding of some particularly good fishing ground that has no mark on the chart and is only fixed in the mind of fishermen by study of distances from the shore.

It is a well known fact that fish must be sought. They will not, as a rule, come to the fisherman, be the latter professional or amateur. Sea fish, as well as lake fish, like rocky bottom, and it is over this kind of bottom that the best catches are made. It is no easy task to locate a rocky bed along the Jersey coast, and even with ranges or landmarks one is not always certain to find it on another day's fishing trip. The ranges are manipulated this way:

In an ordinary surfboat, such as the majority of the Jersey fishermen use, the beach line that looks so white and extensive close inshore resembles a white thread at a distance of, say, 15 miles from the land. When the fishermen discover a new ground at or about that distance offshore, they generally pick three marks on land—one north, one south and the third directly to the westward. By bringing these three marks to a convergence the happy hunting ground is located.

As a rule these fishermen are a bit selfish when new grounds are discovered. They conceal the fact as long as possible from one another, for business reasons principally, for there is a ripe competition among these beach combers, and it is only by playing possum and keeping a weather eye open that one learns what his rival sometimes knows.

One day last season a reporter was in one of these surfboats 18 miles offshore from Barnegat. The fisherman in charge of the tiny craft was heading for a rocky bottom as far offshore as he dared to go without compass and provisions. When within a mile or so of the ground, another fisherman and his helper were seen at anchor. They were hauling up whacking big bass as fast as they could throw out, and altogether they seemed to be having a glorious time. After the two boats had separated sufficiently to permit a private conversation the professional in charge of the first mentioned craft said to his shipmate:

"Did you mark it?"
"Yes," answered the other. "The pier to the westward, the life saving station is to the northward and the cottage of that old crank is to the southward."

"That's the way I made it," replied the first speaker. All this seemed like so much Greek to one of the amateurs in the boat who began to ask questions.

"That's a new ground," said the fisherman. "We didn't know that it existed. Yes, they are catching lots of fish. Why don't I go back and try it? Well, I do not like to imitate people—at least I do not care to let them see me copy them. I'll try it some other day."

It may have been professional pride or etiquette, this sharp bit of practice, but in other walks of life it would be called a trick of the trade. It's done all along the beach. Here's another trick of the trade that a surfman at Belmar taught this landlubberly reporter. There's a schooner that takes city folk from Asbury Park offshore to fish. She was anchored ten miles offshore this particular morning over a newly found ground, and there were half a dozen or more surfboats clustered about her. The biting was first class, but presently one of the big fishing steamboats from the Battery was sighted heading down the beach. There was an interchange of conversation on the part of the professional fishermen, but they suddenly pulled up anchors as if one man and began rowing around.

The schooner weighed her bow anchor and under her headsails and mainsail reached offshore. Naturally the amateurs wanted to know why a shift should be made, especially as the strikes were unusually lively. "That's the Hal Corster coming down," said one of the fishermen in a half whisper, as if those on the steamboat could hear him, although she was fully two miles away. "We have a good ground here, and we don't want her pilots to find the ranges. She'll keep to the southward, and we'll circle around until she gets out of the way."

And they did save it too. The steamboat kept to the southward for some little distance and finally, being unable to get the ranges or whatever ground her pilots had in view, came about again and stood to the northward, finally anchoring off Long Branch. She had no sooner done so when the fishing schooner and surfboats, after a mental and ocular struggle with ranges, were back in their original positions, with their amateurs fishing like mischief. —New York Mail and Express.

THE SIEGE OF PARIS.

HOW LONDON FIRST LEARNED THAT IT HAD ENDED.

Story of the Reporter Who Got the "Scoop" and Who Then Induced Bismarck to Allow Him to Send Out the News Over His Private Wire.

During the Franco-German war, from Oct. 18, 1870, to March 1, 1871, I was attached to the headquarters of the crown prince, who occupied an unassuming little villa called Les Ombrages, in an outskirt of Versailles, his august father residing throughout the investment and siege of Paris in the prefecture of the whilom "royal burgh," and Count Bismarck, with his staff of counselors and secretaries, in a detached house of the Rue de Provence. I often met the chancellor out of doors, walking or riding, during that long and bitter winter, but sedulously refrained from soliciting audiences, being well aware that the visits of a war correspondent, who had everything to ask and nothing to tell, could not possibly be welcome to so desperately overworked a statesman as Bismarck.

By what means I need not explain in this place, I had been made acquainted with the precise terms of the capitulation of Paris at an early hour of the morning after the conclusion of the armistice, and had, moreover, good reason to believe that the conditions of the surrender had not been communicated to any other correspondent of an English or even a German newspaper at headquarters. Having obtained the supremely important item of news, what was I to do with it? Unless it could be forthwith transmitted to The Daily Telegraph office by telegraph, my chances of forestalling my fellow correspondents would be annihilated, and there was no wire at my disposal—or, for that matter, at that of any foreign journalist—within the vast radius of the lines of investment.

The situation appeared an utterly hopeless one, until suddenly the happiest of "happy thoughts" flashed through my mind. Perhaps the all powerful chancellor, newly created a prince of the young German empire, would authorize the transmission to London of my dispatch over his own official wire, by means of which he was "on rapport" with every European capital except beleaguered Paris. There was no time to lose. Before 8 a. m. I had taken down the articles of capitulation from the lips of my informant, within half an hour I had copied them out, "large, bold and handsome," on two pages of foolscap and had made myself presentable.

At 9 o'clock I presented myself at the street door of the house in the Rue de Provence and sent up my card to Countess Lothar Bucher, with a pencilled request that he would allow me to speak to him in private. Almost immediately he came down to the waiting room on the ground floor, into which I had been shown, and asked me what he could do for me. "Can you procure me a five minutes' audience of the prince?" I replied. "I don't know," was the rejoinder, "but I'll try. The chancellor is extremely busy, but perhaps he'll see you if you can assure me that the matter is really urgent." I declared that for me it could not possibly be more so, whereupon Bucher left me—I confess, in a fever of anxiety—and was absent for about a quarter of an hour, at the expiration of which he reappeared and beckoned to me to follow him up stairs.

In an ex-boudoir on the first floor converted into a sort of office I found the chancellor awaiting me. After the briefest of greetings he said, "Pray, tell me what you want in the fewest possible words, for I have not a moment to lose." I produced my dispatch, handed it to him and asked him if it was substantially correct.

After looking through it he answered: "Yes, it is. I don't know how you got your information, and I don't intend to ask, but these are the terms on which Paris surrenders. What then?" When I besought his permission to forward the message over his wire, he laughed rather grimly, saying, "You must be mad to ask such a thing!"

I urged upon him that the tension of public feeling in England with respect to the fate of Paris was very painful—many people's sympathy being temporarily averted from Germany by harrowing accounts of the sufferings undergone by the population of the French capital. "That tension would be considerably relieved, sir," I replied, "by the knowledge that the siege of Paris is come to an end and that the victors have accorded merciful terms to the vanquished." Prince Bismarck held out against my importunity for about a couple of minutes, but he yielded at last, only stipulating that I should efface my name at the end of the dispatch.

"On no account can I allow you to sign a message sent over my wire. If your people in London do not believe it to be authentic when it reaches them, that is their affair. But it must go unsigned or not at all." It did go unsigned; it was accepted as authentic, and its publication that very afternoon in a special edition of The Daily Telegraph proved to be one of the greatest journalistic coups effected by any London newspaper during the Franco-German war.—London Telegraph.

TRICKY BABY PETE.

HE COMMITTED THE THEFTS FOR WHICH A MAN WAS DISCHARGED.

A Midnight Adventure In the Winter Quarters of an Elephant Herd—How Sly Pete Got Away From His Stake and Stole a Bag of Oats.

Pete is the baby elephant of one of the big circus herds. During his confinement in winter quarters he played a trick on his keeper, which the man relates as follows:

"Pete is a tiny little fellow and does not weigh more than 600 or 800 pounds, but I actually believe he would eat as many pounds of oats if he had access to them. The elephant house was dark one night, and I supposed every one of the animals was sound asleep, when my attention was attracted by a subdued, rasping noise, apparently coming from the farther end of the big herd. Instead of walking down in front of them all, I went around and came in at the other end. Hiding behind some bales of straw, I peered cautiously over to where the little rascal was chained, and there he was, carefully lifting his stake out of the ground. I saw in an instant that he had had the stake out before that time, for all he had to do was to lift it up and it came out. He slipped his foot chain down over the tapering end of the stake and was free.

"Across the room, distant perhaps 75 feet or more from his place, were piled some sacks of grain, containing about 100 pounds each. Picking up the foot chain very carefully with his trunk, so that it would not rattle or jangle upon the floor, he began the most delicate, sinuous, gliding motion across the space that separated him from the grain I ever saw, and I never imagined an elephant could go so quietly. I crouched behind the bales of straw, afraid to move for fear he would hear me and stop.

"On he went, cautiously, slowly, but steadily, until he was within reaching distance of the sacked grain. Then he laid the chain down and picked up a bag of oats with his trunk. His journey back to the herd, 20 feet away, was performed even more cautiously than had been his advance, for he had to drag the chain without making a noise. All the time he held the sack of grain tightly in his trunk, and his mouth must have watered when he thought of the feast he was going to have. He reached the herd at last and went up to great big Babylon, who stood like a bronze statue, her massive sides looming up like the sides of a house in the gloom. Pete stopped, and Babyloa, whom I had imagined fast asleep, totted the oats. They got into the bag in a jiffy and then began a feast. Pete filled his mouth and munched away like a man eating dry crackers on a wage. He knew that his big companion in crime would get the most of the oats if he lost any time. Babylon put away almost half the oats at the first jump out of the bag, and poor little Pete, with his mouth full, looked at her with his watery little eyes, as much as to say, 'Oh, what a hog!' and gulped the oats down his little throat at the risk of choking to death.

"I thought it was about time to make a noise, just to disconcert them. I had seen enough to assure me that a hostler who had been discharged hadn't been instrumental in the disappearance of the elephant house, I wondered what I should do to punish the thieves. The big one had had a painful operation performed a few months before, and I thought that any sight of the instruments that had been used at that time would give her a good fright. When I had reached my own sleeping room, I purposely made a noise and heard the shuffling sounds of sly little Pete as he ambled back to his place. He picked his stake up, put it down in the ground, and would have put it through the ring in the chain if he had had time. When I came along, he was leaning against the wall asleep. I gave him a gentle prod, and he awakened suddenly, with that sleepy stare that a person has when awakened from slumber. But he soon knew that I was on to him, for, when I ordered him to open his mouth, he didn't want to do it. He finally obeyed, and there were the oats. His mouth was jammed full of them. I didn't do anything to him, but walked over to big Babylon. She was his partner in crime, but she was playing possum too.

"I had a good deal of trouble to wake her up and more to make her open her mouth. Much to her chagrin, I imagine, it was full of oats, and she had the empty sack closely rolled up and packed in with them. She was sheepish and ashamed, I assure you, if ever an elephant put on that expression. To punish her I ordered her to sit down and open her mouth and made a motion as if to pass a great pair of forceps into it which had been used during the operation I referred to. She shut her mouth and cried like a baby, and was so thoroughly frightened that she never trespass again. But that sly little Pete—why, he is more trouble than the entire herd, and he just gets loose whenever he wants to."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

JOSEPH L. BEARD

Taken From the City Jail and Scandalously
Whipped Saturday Night.

Sometime Saturday night Jos. L. Beard, colored, who had been in jail since Friday awaiting trial, as stated in Saturday's REPUBLICAN, was taken out by a number of masked men and severely flogged.

The jail door was battered down and Beard says masked men entered, threw a blanket over his head and led him away. From what he says he must have been taken to some point in the city park where the lash was applied without mercy.

After being released, he found his way to Dr. Kyle's seeking advice as to what he should do. He said he recognized several of his assailants who had commanded him to leave town, but he preferred to stay and fight his troubles to a finish. He was advised to go to his home which he did, where the officers have permitted him to remain un-molested.

The whole affair is to be regretted, and the people generally so express themselves. If Beard was guilty as charged in the affidavit sworn out against him as it seems probable, he would have been proven so and punished accordingly.

Taking him out of jail and flogging him in direct violation of the law only makes matters worse and adds to the number of law breakers.

The members of the A. M. E. church who really caused his arrest of course had no part in the flogging and openly condemn such a procedure. But what was done Saturday night should not stand in the way of the trial of Beard. He should answer to the charge against him which he will desire to do if not guilty.

May Not Be Mustered Out.

It is stated on very good authority that strenuous efforts are making to keep the One-hundred-and-fifty-ninth Indiana Regiment, now at Camp Mount in the service, and to muster out instead the One-hundred-and-sixtieth Regiment, which has been encamped for a considerable while at Lexington, Ky. Most of the One-hundred-and-sixtieth Indiana, it is said, is anxious to come home, while the officers, at least, of the One-hundred-and-fifty-ninth are anxious to continue in the volunteer army. Appeals have been made to Senator Fairbanks, Representative Faris and other influential Republicans to have the One-hundred-and-fifty-ninth retained, and it is reported that these gentlemen will present the request of the regiment to the proper authorities at Washington.
